Section 23A3.1-5 Computing the Interest (Cont.)J. Timely Remittance*1. Authorized Official

The agency is responsible for establishing the procedures for employees to make payments to the agency, for accepting such payments from the employees, and for submitting the payments to OPM in accordance with OPM's instructions. As a necessary part of this responsibility, the agency should designate an official authorized to provide instructions to its employees for making timely deposit payments and for accepting such payments when made.

2. Received by the Agency Before the IAD

To be considered a timely remittance, deposit payments must be received by the agency--that is, physically in the possession of the agency official authorized to receive these payments--by the close of business on the last regular business day before the IAD. Thus, for deposits sent by mail, the date on the postmark does not constitute the date of payment.

Example: Martha was first employed under CSRS on October 15, 1983. She has an initial IAD of October 15, 1986. On each October 15 thereafter, interest is added to her account based on the balance in the account as of October 14 of that year until the deposit is paid in full.

If Martha mails a payment to the agency and it is received by the appropriate agency official as of the close of business on Friday, October 13, 1989, its last regular business day before Martha's IAD, the amount of the payment is deducted from her account balance before assessing interest for the period October 15, 1988, through October 14, 1989. If the payment was postmarked on Friday, October 13, 1989, but was not physically in the possession of the appropriate agency official, the payment would not be deducted before assessing the interest charge.

K. Agency Payment of Interest*1. Interest Charges Must Be Paid

There is no provision in law or regulation for the waiver of interest charged on military deposit accounts. It is OPM policy that if a remittance is not timely, interest must be charged on the deposit (see 5 CFR 831.105). Agencies should advise employees of this policy so they can take the necessary steps to make timely payments if they want to avoid the additional interest charges.
